

NAME _____ SS# _____

Write a program to open a file called "input.dat" for input and open a file called "output.dat" for output. This program is to read every string from the input file and write it to the output file. Finally close both files.